National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment
Frequent showers during Saturday afternoon and evening, a mixture of rain, hail, sleet and snow, will slowly die out from the south on Saturday night. Clear skies between showers will lead to the potential for rapid freezing and icy stretches forming. Icy stretches are primarily expected on untreated surfaces but showers may result in treatment wash off in places exacerbating the ice risk.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 16:00 on Sat, 25th Jan 2014 until 07:00 on Sun, 26th Jan 2014

Wintry showers during Saturday afternoon and through the early part of Saturday night will leave roads wet in places with a risk of icy stretches forming as temperatures dip below freezing.

The public should be aware of the potential for some disruption to travel.
